MUTUAL NON-DISCLOSURE AND CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

This Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into as of the 20th April 2026 by and between Lextria Research a partnership firm with its principal place of business at #21, 4th Floor, MUTBI, Advanced Research Centre, Manipal - 576104 and/or any of its Affiliates ("Lextria Research") and Kooden Solutions (the "Client") residing at A 610, Mythri Sapphire, Sarjapur road, Bangalore 560035

Lextria Research and Client may disclose to each other Confidential Information (as hereinafter defined) for the following

PURPOSE: IP Management and IP Filings

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing, Lextria Research and the Client mutually agree as follows:

1. For the purposes of this Agreement, "Confidential Information" shall mean all information in any and all mediums disclosed by one party (the "Disclosing Party") to the other party (the "Receiving Party") that is either (a) marked or identified as confidential at the time of disclosure, or (b) by its nature should reasonably be understood to be confidential, including, without limitation, data, technology, source code, know-how, inventions, discoveries, designs, processes, techniques, methods, performance characteristics, testing strategies, formulations, models, equipment, algorithms, software programs, documents, specifications, information concerning research and development work, and/or trade and business secrets. Confidential Information also includes information relating to current, planned, or proposed products, licensing or sales activities, policies, practices, finances, revenue, pricing, cost or profits, marketing and business plans, forecasts, projections and analyses, financial information, customer information, and third-party confidential information. Oral disclosures shall be deemed Confidential Information only if confirmed in writing as confidential within ten (10) days of disclosure. Each party shall determine in its sole discretion what information and materials it shall disclose to the other party. The Receiving Party shall not acquire any rights in the Confidential Information.

2. For the purposes of this Agreement, Confidential Information shall not include any information which, as evidenced by written records: (a) is already known to the Receiving Party or is publicly available at the time of disclosure; (b) becomes public domain after disclosure through no act of the Receiving Party in breach of this Agreement; Confidential Information shall not be deemed to be in the public domain merely because it is embodied in generally available disclosures or because individual components or combinations thereof with other hardware or software or other information are now or later become available to the public, in part or in its entirety. (c) is disclosed pursuant to a court order or legal requirement, provided the Receiving Party (i) promptly notifies the Disclosing Party in writing (within 48 hours of receiving such order or requirement, where feasible) to allow the Disclosing Party an opportunity to seek a protective order or other remedy, and (ii) at the request and expense of the Disclosing Party, uses reasonable efforts to limit such disclosure to the extent requested.;

(d) was or is independently developed by the Receiving Party without use of the Confidential Information disclosed by the Disclosing Party;

3. The Receiving Party shall not acquire any rights in the Confidential Information. This Agreement grants no license to the Confidential Information by either party to the other, either directly or by implication, estoppel or otherwise.

4. The Receiving Party agrees that it shall hold all Confidential Information in strict confidence and to take all steps to safeguard the Confidential Information with reasonable care, including, without limitation, those steps it takes to protect its own Confidential Information of a similar nature.

5. The Receiving Party shall not (a) use, copy, or reproduce the Confidential Information, except for the Purpose. (b) disclose or otherwise provide any Confidential Information to any third party without the prior written consent of the Disclosing Party; (c) alter, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble, or otherwise modify the Confidential Information.

6. The Receiving Party agrees to limit its internal disclosure of Confidential Information only to those of its employees, subcontractors, consultants, or other third parties who need to know such information for the Purpose and who have signed a written agreement with the Receiving Party binding them to confidentiality obligations substantially similar to those of this Agreement. The Receiving Party shall obtain prior written consent from the Disclosing Party before disclosing Confidential Information to any subcontractor, consultant, or third party (other than employees). The Receiving Party shall be fully responsible for any acts or omissions of its employees, subcontractors, consultants, or other third parties in breach of this Agreement.

7. Upon the expiration or termination of this Agreement, or at the earlier written request of the Disclosing Party, the Receiving Party shall return to the Disclosing Party, or, subject to the Disclosing Party's written instructions, destroy and certify such destruction, all Confidential Information in tangible form in its possession. The Receiving Party shall provide written certification of destruction to the Disclosing Party's designated contract within thirty (30) days of the destruction.

8. The Disclosing Party represents that it has the right to make the disclosures made under this Agreement. The Confidential Information disclosed under this Agreement is delivered "as is" and the Disclosing Party makes no representation of any kind with respect to the accuracy of such Confidential Information or its suitability for any particular use.

9. Nothing in this Agreement shall preclude either party from making, using, marketing, licensing, or selling any independently developed technology, product or material, whether similar or related to the Confidential

Information disclosed under this Agreement, provided the party has not done so in breach of this Agreement.

10. This Agreement shall remain in effect for three (3) years following the last date of disclosure of any Confidential Information unless terminated earlier by either party by providing thirty (30) days' advance written notice to the other party. Upon expiration or termination of this Agreement, the Receiving Party shall act in accordance with Clause 7 above. The parties' obligations with respect to each other's Confidential Information shall survive for a period of ten (10) years following the expiration or termination of this Agreement, except for trade secrets, which shall remain protected for as long as they qualify as trade secrets under applicable law.

11. Since unauthorized disclosure or use of Confidential Information will diminish the value of the proprietary interests that are the subject of this Agreement, if the Receiving Party breaches any of its obligations hereunder, the Disclosing Party may be entitled to equitable relief to protect its interest therein, including but not limited to injunctive relief, as well as money damages.

12. The relationship of the parties is that of independent parties. This Agreement does not create an agency, partnership, or similar relationship between the parties. Neither party hereby acquires any rights to use in advertising, publicity or other marketing activities any name, trade name, trademark or other designation of the other party.

13. This agreement and all disputes and claims arising from it shall be governed by and construed in accordance with Indian law and the parties irrevocably agree that the courts in Udupi alone shall have exclusive jurisdictions for all matters, which may arise out of or in connection with this agreement.

14. Any notices, requests, demands or other communications required or permitted under this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be sufficiently communicated if delivered in person, or if sent by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the recipient party at its above written address or to such other address as such party may have designated for such purpose by notice previously given to the other party. Notices shall be deemed to have been received if delivered in person, on the same day; if sent by facsimile, twenty-four (24) hours after transmission; if sent by registered mail, seven (7) days after deposit into the mail system and further agree to substitute for such invalid provision a valid provision, which most closely approximates the intent and economic effect of the invalid provision.

15. Either party may not assign this Agreement without the prior written consent of the other party. Notwithstanding the foregoing, either party may, without the prior consent of the other party, assign or transfer this Agreement to its affiliates or as part of a corporate reorganization, consolidation, merger, or sale of the relevant assets; provided, however, that such party notifies the other party within thirty (30) days following any such assignment.

16. Any failure by either party to enforce strict performance by the other party of any provision herein shall not constitute a waiver of the right to subsequently enforce such provision or any other provision of this Agreement.

17. This Agreement is the complete and exclusive statement of the arrangement between the parties and supersedes all prior written and oral communications and agreements relating to the subject matter hereof. This Agreement may only be modified by a written agreement signed by persons duly authorized to sign agreements on behalf of the parties

18. Neither party shall be liable for any failure or delay in performing its extent such failure or delay is caused by events beyond its reasonable control, including but not limited to acts of God, war, terrorism, strikes, government actions, or natural disasters ("Force Majeure Events"). The affected party shall promptly notify the other party in writing of the Force Majeure Event and use reasonable efforts to mitigate its impact. If the Force Majeure Event continues for more than sixty (60) days, either party may terminate this Agreement by providing written notice to the other party.

19. If any provision of this Agreement is found to be invalid or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining provisions shall remain in full force and effect. The parties agree to substitute for such invalid provision a valid provision that most closely approximates the intent and economic effect of the invalid provision.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, each party hereto has executed this Agreement by a representative duly authorized as of the date set forth below.
